

1 Complete the sentences with the words in the box.

only account do before circumstances before sooner

- Not only have you upset your mother, but you've also disappointed her.
- On no click on that link. That website is full of malware.
- Rarely we understand the things that we do, while we are doing them.
- No had he finished the marathon than he started talking about doing another one.
- Never I seen such a beautiful place.
- Under no are you go wandering around at night. This can be a very dangerous city.

2 Choose the correct answer, a or b.

- No sooner we arrived than it started to rain.
a have b had
- Under no circumstances help you cheat in your exam tomorrow.
a will I b I will
- Not only got a recording contract, but also the free use of the record company's flat in New York.
a has she b she has
- Never before we been able to communicate with each other at such speed.
a having b have
- On no account you tell your sister about the party.
a must b mustn't
- Rarely we encounter true genius in life. And yet we use that word all the time, as if geniuses were as common as ducks on the river.
a done b do

3 Circle the best words to complete the sentences.

- He seems / unquestionably to be intent on going to live in Los Angeles.
- Neuroscience has appeared / definitely become one of the key areas of modern science.
- She seems to be / be so much happier with her game now. I think she's finally got over the knee problem that was troubling her so much at the start of the year.
- This Barcelona team is unquestionably / seem one of the finest club sides that football has ever seen.
- The internet is appear / undoubtedly one of the most revolutionary inventions in all of human history.
- He undoubtedly / appeared to be trying to break into the house, officer. That is why I called you.