

1

- A: What does 'successful' mean?
- B: I think being successful means having lots of money.
- C: No, I don't think money is important. I think you have to be intelligent.
- A: I think you don't have to be intelligent, but you have to be good at what you do.
- B: And you have to be famous.
- A: You're successful if you have the respect of other people.
- C: I'm sure success isn't being famous or rich. The important thing is being happy.
- A: Yes, a successful person has to enjoy doing what he or she does.

2

- A: Does your sister like her new job?
- B: Yes, but she has to get up very early in the morning.
- A: Does she have to work hard?
- B: Yes, she does. And she has to wear a uniform.
- A: Did she have to pass an exam to get the job?
- B: Yes, she had to pass three exams. And she has to speak very good English.
- A: Did she have to work last Sunday?
- B: No, she doesn't have to work on Sundays. That's her day off.
- A: What do you want to do when you leave school?
- B: I'm not sure, but I think I'd like to be a vet.

3

- A: My best friend's got a part-time job.
- B: What does she do?
- A: She helps elderly people.
- B: Does she have to do their shopping?
- A: Yes, she often has to do their shopping, and she sometimes helps them in their home.
- B: How much does she earn?
- A: She earns ten euro an hour.
- B: What does she do with the money?
- A: She puts it in the bank and saves it.
- B: Does she ever spend it?
- A: Yes, she sometimes buys new clothes.

4

- A: What did your father want to do when he was young?
- B: My father always wanted to be a firefighter.
- A: When did he decide he wanted to be a lawyer?
- B: He decided he wanted to be a lawyer when he was 18.
- A: Why did he become a lawyer?
- B: Because lawyers earn more money than firefighters.
- A: Did he have to study hard?
- B: Yes, he had to study five years at university and take a lot of exams.
- A: What does he like about his job?
- B: He likes meeting people, and he likes helping them solve their problems.