- A: I saw Emma yesterday.
B: What did she say?
A: She said that she was going to the USA for six months.
B: Did she tell you what she was going to do there?
A: Yes, she said she wanted to get a part-time job in a restaurant in New York.
B: Last time I saw her brother, he told me that Emma had had a bad accident.
A: Was she badly hurt?
B: He said that she'd spent some time in hospital but that she was back to normal.
A: She didn't tell me about the accident. She said that she would write to me from New York.
B: Great! She might invite you to visit when she finds somewhere to live.

- A: How did the camping holiday go?
B: Well, the accommodation was very comfortable – big modern tents with kitchens.
A: Fantastic! And what about the entertainment on the campsite?
B: That was terrible! The bands were awful, and the comedians weren't funny at all.
A: Didn't the advertisement say that the shows were all first class?
B: Yes, it did. It was so bad that one family wanted to leave early, but the campsite managers told them that they didn't accept cancellations.
A: Did the family stay?
B: Yes, but they said that they would never go back to that campsite.
A: What about the outdoor activities?
B: They were brilliant. The campsite had all the equipment for every sport in the area. That was the best thing about the holiday.

- A: Hi there! What have you been doing recently?
B: Well, it was my birthday yesterday.
A: Really? If I'd known it was your birthday, I would have called you yesterday. Did you have a party?
B: No, I couldn't have a party in the middle of the week. If it had been a Saturday, I would have had a party.
A: And you would have invited me, of course.
B: Of course. And what would you have got me as a present?
A: If I hadn't already spent all my money, I would have given you a new pair of trainers.
B: Great! Thanks. That's a very nice thought. I'll remind you in time next year.
A: Yes, tell me six months in advance.
B: Sometimes I wonder what I would have done if I hadn't met you.

4

- A: Can I have a word with you?
B: Sure. What about?
A: Well, it's just that I'm really stressed out about exams. I can't sleep any more.
B: I'm nervous about the exams too, but surely there are more important things in life.
A: Probably, but I haven't studied enough. I think I might fail them.
B: If we'd studied more, we wouldn't have had so much fun this year.
A: That's true. My parents told me that they would take me to visit Paris if I did well.
B: My mum said that she was going to be very angry if I didn't pass.
A: Parents always say things like that. Let's go for a walk.
B: It might help us relax.
