- A: Have you ever been to Stonehenge?
B: Yes, I visited it last year.
A: What's it like?
B: It's amazing. It's a circle of seventeen enormous stones.
A: When was it built?
B: It was completed about 3,500 years ago.
A: Wow! Why did they build it?
B: No one really knows. It might have been a religious place, or it might have been a place for observing the stars and planets.
A: How did they build it?
B: They think the workers must have used ropes to get the stones into an upright position.
A: That can't have been easy!

2

- A: I can't find my wallet.
B: Where did you last see it?
A: I definitely saw it when I was at home.
B: You might have left it there.
A: No, I can't have left it at home because I had it later. I bought a sandwich on the way to school.
B: You might have dropped it in the shop.
A: No, I can't have lost it there because I saw it again when I was on the bus.
B: Someone might have stolen it on the bus.
A: No, I must have had it later because I lent my friend some money when I got to school.
B: So it must be somewhere in the school.
A: Oh here it is in my coat pocket! I must be going mad!

3

- A: Do you know who Howard Carter was?
B: He was a famous archaeologist.
A: Can you tell me what he discovered?
B: He discovered Tutankhamen's tomb in 1922.
A: Could you tell me who Lord Carnarvon was?
B: He was the man who sponsored Carter's search.
A: Do you know when and how he passed away?
B: He was bitten by an insect a few months after the discovery of the tomb.
A: Can you tell me what happened at exactly the same time as Carnarvon died?
B: All the lights in Cairo went out.
A: He must have died because of the curse.

- A: Do you know what time the train to Cambridge leaves?
B: I'm not sure but I think it might have already left.
A: Could you tell me when the next one is?
B: There's one in half an hour.
A: Would you mind telling me which platform it leaves from?
B: I don't know. You'd better look at the timetable.
A: Do you know if I have to book a seat?
B: You're allowed to get on the train without a booking, but you might not get a seat.
A: Can you tell me if there's a buffet car on the train?
B: You must think I work for the railways. Why don't you ask someone in the ticket office?
