

1 A and B are talking about lying. Write the dialogue. Follow the prompts.

A: Ask if B ever tells lies.

B: Only white lies.

A: Ask what a white lie is.

B: Explain.

A: Ask for an example.

B: Give an example.

A: Ask if B has ever told a really bad lie.

B: Give details.

A: Ask if the person that B lied to knew B had lied.

B: Give details.

End the dialogue in a suitable way.

2 A and B are talking. Write the dialogue. Follow the prompts.

A: Suppose you / have / your own private aeroplane, where / you fly to?

B: I / fly to Florida and find a nice beach.

A: If you / can / be anyone in the world, who / you / like / be?

B: I / like / be a pop star like Beyoncé.

A: Say you / can / change one thing about yourself. What / you / change?

B: I / change my nose. It's too big.

A: Imagine you / win / competition. What sort of competition / you / like / win?

B: I / like / win a competition for the best young writer.

A: If you / have to / spend six months on a desert island with one other person, who / you / choose?

B: I / choose my mum. That way I / not have to / cook.

3 A and B are talking about honesty. Write the dialogue. Follow the prompts.

A: Are you an honest person?

B: Not always, no.

A: If you found some money in the street, what would you do?

B: I'd pick it up and spend it, of course.

A: If you didn't like your best friend's new boy/girlfriend, would you tell him/her?

B: No, I would avoid telling him/her. He/She might think I'm just jealous!

A: If you borrowed something from a friend and then accidentally broke it, would you tell him/her what happened?

B: Yes, of course. What's the point in inventing stories? I'd explain what happened and replace it.

A: Would you lie about your work experience in a job interview?

B: No. I don't think I would be very convincing, so it would be really embarrassing.

End the dialogue in a suitable way.

4 A and B are talking. Write the dialogue. Follow the prompts.

A: I wish I / not have so much homework to do.

B: Me too! I wish I / be / pop star and not have to / go / school.

A: If only I / understand Maths, the homework / not take so long.

B: I wish I / can explain it to you!

A: I want to go out and have some fun. If only I / have / boy/girlfriend.

B: If only there / be / discos and places for teenagers, we / meet some boys/girls.

A: I wish we / know some rich good-looking boys/girls who could take us out in their car.

B: If only we / not be / so depressed.

A: I wish we / be dead!

B: Oh come on! It's not that bad!