

1 Students' own answers

- 2 A: Can you think of a Chinese pianist who has been a UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador since the age of 23?
- B: Yes. Lang Lang, regarded by many as the most exciting pianist alive, has represented UNICEF for several years.
- A: Name the UN agency most represented by the stars.
- B: UNICEF has used lots of celebrities over the years.
- A: Can you think of a famous actress who has worked for UNHCR?
- B: Yes. Angelina Jolie, thought by many to be the most beautiful woman in the world, is well-known for her humanitarian work.
- A: Name a famous English pop singer used by UNICEF even though he isn't a Goodwill Ambassador?
- B: Robbie Williams has given several concerts for UNICEF.
- A: Can you think of an internationally famous footballer involved in children's issues?
- B: Yes, Lionel Messi became a UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador in 2010.

3 Students' own answers

- 4 A: Angelina Jolie must earn a lot of money, mustn't she?
- B: Yes, but she gives some of it to charities, doesn't she?
- A: She isn't a very good actress though, is she?
- B: If you ask me she's excellent. And she's won a lot of awards, hasn't she?
- A: Yes, I suppose so. She wasn't bad in Changeling, was she?
- B: As far as I'm concerned, she was excellent. And she isn't bad-looking, is she?
- A: No. Some people think she's the most beautiful woman on the planet, don't they?
- B: Yes. She used to work as a model, didn't she?
- A: Yes, she did. She didn't have a very happy adolescence, did she?
- B: No, she suffered from depression. She was blamed for the end of Brad Pitt's marriage, wasn't she?
- A: Yes, but she's had three children with him since then, hasn't she?
- B: They'll probably get married one day, won't they?
- A: It doesn't really matter either way.