

1 Complete the dialogue, then act it out in pairs.

- A: last night?
 B: a film on TV.
 A: Was it funny?
 B: No,
 A: in the film?
 B: A young writer went to Paris with his girlfriend and his future parents-in-law.
 A: ?
 B: Yes, they did, but not together. The writer with his girlfriend and her parents, so he started walking around Paris on his own.
 A: another woman?
 B: Yes, but She was part of his fantasy world.

2 Write the dialogue. Then act it out in pairs.

- A: / you go anywhere special yesterday?

 B: No, I / go / to school in the morning.

 A: / you see your friends there?

 B: Yes, and I / see / a lot of teachers too!

 A: / you speak to anyone for the first time?

 B: Yes, I / speak / to the new boy in the class.

 A: / you get a good mark for the History test?

 B: No, I / get / a terrible mark!

 A: / you write anything last night?

 B: Yes, I / write / an email to my best friend.

3 Complete the dialogue, then act it out in pairs.

- A: Why was Rosa Parks important in American history?
 B: when a white man wanted her seat.
 A: Why was this important?
 B: Because the law then
 A: Did the police arrest her?
 B: Yes, prison.
 A: in Alabama do?
 B: They protested and they buses.
 A: Did Rosa Parks die young?
 B: No, 92.

4 Write the dialogue. Then act it out in pairs.

- A: What / you know about Queen Elizabeth I?

 B: I remember / she / the queen of England in the sixteenth century.

 A: Why / queen?

 B: Because her only brother / die / when he / young.

 A: / any sisters?

 B: Yes, her half-sister Mary / queen for a few years before her.

 A: How old / when she / become / queen?

 B: / only 25.
