4 Read the petition again. Answer the questions.

- 1 Why didn't farmers like wolves?
- 2 Why did people think they were dangerous?
- 3 How are Iberian wolves important for the ecosystem?
- 4 What does the organisation want to teach people?
- 5 What does the petition want to do?

Protect the Iberian wolf in Andalusia

Iberian wolves are sociable animals, and they live in packs (groups) of eight to nine. Their habitat in Andalusia is in the Sierra Morena mountains (Córdoba, Jaén and Seville). Over 100 years ago there were a lot of wolves in Andalusia, but today nobody really knows exactly how many there are. Some experts think that only 50 wolves exist and others think they are almost extinct.

There was a bigger population of wolves in Andalusia in the past. Farmers didn't like them because they killed their animals and other people thought they were dangerous and spread diseases. So people killed them.

We want the population to go up to 150 wolves. We can do this by protecting them. We want to educate people about the importance of wolves. We need wolves in our ecosystem to help control the population of animals like rabbits and wild pigs. They aren't dangerous and they don't spread disease. We want to show how farmers and wolves can live together. To do this we need your help. Please sign this petition to save these animals before they all disappear!

A travel leaflet

1 Discuss the questions.

- 1 What is the place in the photo called?
- 2 What do you know about this place?

2 Read the leaflet. What other places are there?

Did you know that the steps to the top of the Giralda are wide enough for a horse?

3 Read the leaflet again. Are these sentences T (true) or F (false)? Correct the false sentences.

- 1 The Cathedral is older than the Alcázar.
- 2 It took a long time to build the Cathedral.
- 3 The Giralda Tower and the Cathedral are close to each other.
- 4 They built the Plaza de España after the 1929 Expo.
- 5 There is a show at the Flamenco museum every day.

What are the top five things to do in Seville?

1 The Alcázar – The Moors built the original palace and patio between the years 913 and 914. Enjoy a walk around the beautiful gardens. Did you see Game of Thrones? These gardens were in that TV show!

2 The Cathedral – Close to the Alcázar, you can visit one of the largest cathedrals in the world. The building is about 500 years old and took more than 100 years to build.

3 The Giralda – This 97.5-metre tower was part of a 12th-century mosque. It later became part of the Cathedral.

4 Plaza de España – This is a beautiful monument that represents all the provinces in Spain. Why did they build this monument? They built it to celebrate the 1929 Expo, but guess what? It also appeared in a Star Wars film.

5 Flamenco – Did you know that Seville is the home of Flamenco? So, visit the Flamenco Museum to learn about this art and see the beautiful dresses and shawls. Each evening at 7 pm, you can see a tablao (flamenco show).

Past simple: questions

The Alcornocales Nature Park: FAQs

a In a youth hostel in the Alcornocales Nature Park. However, this is an adventure camp, so for two nights you're going to sleep in a tent in the cork tree forest. It's the biggest cork tree forest in Andalusia and in Spain!

b Lots of different activities such as hiking, rock climbing, paintballing, orienteering and zip wiring, so you won't be bored! You're going to work in teams to build a shelter, collect wood and cook over a campfire. You'll also learn how to make bread and cook it outdoors.

c Don't worry! We'll teach you everything you need for the activities. For example, we'll show you how to read a map and use a compass before you go orienteering.

d Yes! We're going to go to the Bahía de Cádiz nature park in Chiclana de la Frontera. It's windy, so it's a great for sports like windsurfing and sailing and you can see animals like flamingos and chameleons. We're also going to go to the Bacinete caves, where you will see examples of prehistoric rock art. There are paintings of horses, boats and fish that are more than 3,000 years old!

A travel blog

1 Work in pairs. Look at the photos and answer the questions.

- 1 Do you know the places in the photos?
- 2 Why do you think this region is called 'the Hollywood of Spain'?

2 Read the blog about film locations in Almeria and check your ideas in Exercise 1.

The Tabernas Desert is the only real desert in Europe. The rainfall is less than 250 mm per year.

3 Read the blog again. Are these sentences T (true) or F (false)? Correct the false sentences.

- 1 Barney is writing his blog while he is visiting Almeria.
- 2 The Tabernas Desert appears in many classic films.
- 3 Barney doesn't understand why film makers use the Tabernas Desert for western films.
- 4 They don't make films in the Tabernas Desert any more.
- 5 Almeria city is a location for some films.
- 6 The Alcazaba is a modern place.

I'm writing from the Hollywood of Spain.

This week I'm visiting Almeria in Andalusia, which is the Hollywood of Spain. Almeria is the location for many films and TV series. In the past, film makers chose the magnificent Tabernas Desert as a place to film classic spaghetti westerns like A Fistful of Dollars. And I can see why! The rock formations and dry landscape in the Tabernas Desert are very similar to the deserts of the American West. Current film makers also use the desert landscape in Almeria. The TV series Game of Thrones and films like Exodus: Gods and Kings and Assassin's Creed feature the Tabernas Desert.

However, film makers don't always come to Almeria for the desert. They sometimes use the Alcazaba in the city of Almeria as a place to film. Game of Thrones (again) and Wonder Woman 1984 have scenes that take place in the Alcazaba. The Moors built this large fortress about 1,000 years ago. It is on a hill with views over the sea. The Moors could see ships going in and out of the port so they would know if there was any danger. It is really worth visiting because it is a fantastic site – and an ideal film set.

I'm a film lover, so I'm really enjoying my visit to Almeria. It has plenty of spectacular film locations to see. I really recommend a visit.

A review

- 1 Work in pairs. Discuss what you know about the Granada Science Park Museum.
- 2 Read the review. Check your ideas in Exercise 1.

The Science Park Museum has a Foucault pendulum. This is a big weight at the end of a long wire. It can be used to demonstrate the Earth's rotation.

FUN FACT

The Granada Science Park Museum

The Science Park Museum is outside the city of Granada. It opened in 1995 and was Andalusia's first interactive museum. It's really big – over 70,000 square metres. The interactive exhibitions are all about science and the world around us. There are seven permanent exhibition halls, and also many exhibits in the large park and garden area.

It was rainy on the day we were there, but it didn't matter. There were lots of indoor activities to enjoy. My favourite part was the Digital Planetarium because I'm very interested in astronomy. There were 110 different projectors to show over 7,000 stars on the digital sky.

Another really fascinating part was the Journey into the Human Body in the Macroscopio Building. There were interactive exhibits where we learned a lot about human and animal bodies and the origins of humans. For example, I found out that 60% of my body is water – amazing!

After leaving the exhibition halls we went to the tropical butterfly house, where there were 20 different species of butterflies. We also climbed the observation tower to get a fantastic view of Granada and the Sierra Nevada.

It was a great day out. The only disappointing thing was that there wasn't enough time to see everything. I think you need at least two days to see the whole park! And if you want a guided tour, you need to book at least two months in advance.

 - B it's got more than one name.

The legend of Lovers' Rock

The enormous 880m-high rock that overlooks the town and valley of Antequera is known as La Peña de los Enamorados, or Lovers' Rock. The name comes from a local legend.

This legend is a story of forbidden love, dating back to the 15th century, when Moors and Christians were fighting for control of the region. The lovers were the beautiful Moorish Princess Tazgona and a young Christian soldier called Tello, who was a prisoner of her father in Archidona.

One day, when Tazgona was visiting the prisoners, she saw the handsome Tello and they immediately fell in love. But unfortunately, their love was an impossible one. Their families were enemies, and Tazgona's father had promised that she was going to marry another man. Tazgona and Tello were planning to run away when Tazgona's father discovered their plan. They escaped from Archidona, but a group of soldiers followed them.

The lovers came to a rocky mountain and decided to climb up. But when they got to the top of the rock, they could see that the soldiers were getting closer and closer. They realised that there was nowhere else for them to go. Rather than live without each other, they chose to jump over the edge, holding hands – together till the end.

Today the unusual-looking rock is notable, not only because of the story, but because it has the profile of a human head lying down. This gives the rock its other name: The Sleeping Giant. It is an impressive landmark with a romantic story – the legend of Tello and Tazgona, the two young lovers.
