Live. Learn. Feel.
Join us on the journey to successful learning.

Cambridge University Press and Cambridge Assessment English invite you to join us at the centre of our mission as we explore student-centred learning, the journey to get there and the rewards we receive upon reaching it, with Andrea Tolve. Set off on your own personal pathway of discovery exploring a world of communication, collaboration and creativity.

Anne Robinson will then delve deeper into the realm of critical thinking, considered to be a very important higher-order skill but not always clear what it actually means.

To put it simply: what does it bring to the table? In this talk Anne will consider a working definition of the term and then look at different activities that can be used both in and out of the classroom to sharpen our students' critical faculties.

Karen Elliott will bring the event to a close by presenting ideas and activities for bringing the seasons to life in the classroom. After all, at the heart of caring for the environment and moving towards a sustainable future lies an understanding of the beauty and wonder of Nature as a living ecosystem.
