Every child has the right to learn in a safe environment where they are both supported and challenged.

Join us at this year's Cambridge Experience as Phil Dexter opens up the doors of One Classroom for All – the importance of managing feelings in the classroom, how we can measure progress rather than performance, and considering different approaches to dealing with special educational needs that can cause obstacles to learning.

Alexandra Purcell will continue the morning looking at the theme of Influencers - teachers will be encouraged to consider their own circle of influence and the impact of social media on today's education.

Harriet Thompson will also demonstrate some key strategies and practical ideas to help create a diverse and differentiated inclusive environment, both in and out of the classroom, working with familiar classroom and assessment material.

Speakers

Phil Dexter

Phil has worked in English language and education for over thirty years mainly for the British Council. Phil has recently supported inclusive education projects in Africa, Latin America and Europe. He also has a Master's in English language studies from the University of Newcastle upon Tyne and a Diploma in special educational needs. He was awarded an MBE in 2017 for his work in inclusive education.

Alexandra Purcell

Alexandra has been working in ELT since 2005. Since moving to Spain in 2009 she has taught classes of all ages and levels. She has designed and delivered training courses aimed at teachers in the bilingual system, and has written course book materials for primary levels. She is DELTA qualified and particularly enjoys helping teachers prepare their students for exams. Alexandra now works as a Teacher Trainer for Cambridge University Press Iberia.

Harriet Thompson

Harriet is the co-director of Acting Impact and Playtime Theatre and has lived in Madrid for the last 18 years. As well as teaching theatre and performing musical plays for children, she is also a freelance teacher trainer and has given arts-based courses all over Spain.
