Every child has the right to learn in a safe environment where they are both supported and challenged.

Join us at this year's Cambridge Experience as Phil Dexter opens up the doors of One Classroom for All – the importance of managing feelings in the classroom, how we can measure progress rather than performance, and considering different approaches to dealing with special educational needs that can cause obstacles to learning.

Andrea Tolve will continue the morning looking at the theme of Influencers - teachers will be encouraged to consider their own circle of influence and the impact of social media on today's education.

And Annie Altamirano will demonstrate some key strategies and practical ideas to help create a diverse and differentiated inclusive environment, both in and out of the classroom, working with familiar classroom and assessment material.

Speakers

Phil Dexter

Phil has worked in English language and education for over thirty years mainly for the British Council. Phil has recently supported inclusive education projects in Africa, Latin America and Europe. He also has a Master's in English language studies from the University of Newcastle upon Tyne and a Diploma in special educational needs. He was awarded an MBE in 2017 for his work in inclusive education.

Andrea Tolve

Currently Head of Teacher Training Iberia for Cambridge University Press, Andrea has been working in the ELT world since 1999. She started working in Zagreb, Croatia as a teacher and coordinator of private language schools before moving to Spain in 2003. On moving to Spain, Andrea was a teacher and account manager at International House Madrid and followed this by becoming a Director of Studies at her own school. She has a Master of Arts in Education specialising in Applied Linguistics with the Open University.

Annie Altamirano

Annie Altamirano has over 30 years' experience as a teacher, teacher trainer and materials writer. Over the years, she has taught Cambridge English exam classes and has served as a Cambridge English Speaking Examiner. Annie has co-authored courses for children and adolescents and develops online and digital content including preparation materials for Cambridge English Exams for several international publishers.
